Three readers tell us about their cities ...

Phoebe, 13, Athens

Many people only come to Athens to get a boat to the Greek Islands! However, Athens is really worth exploring, especially after the sun has gone down. In Greece, people usually go to bed late so the cafés and restaurants are open until after midnight. On a summer evening, I like to go to one of the cinemas where films are shown outdoors. Afterwards, my friends and I often buy a 'souvlaki', which is a hot sandwich with meat, salad and chips in it. It is delicious and only costs about two euros!

Brendan, 12, Dublin

The best thing about my city is the people who live here. The citizens of Dublin are very relaxed and kind to visitors. You probably have not heard much about Irish food, but one of my favourite dishes is called 'coddle'. I will not tell you what it is, but you should try it! If you are a music fan, you'll love the Irish Rock 'n' Roll Museum, where you can learn about the most successful Irish musicians. It is in Temple Bar, an area with lots of shops and cafés. The only bad thing about Dublin is the weather. You will have to take an umbrella when you go sightseeing, even in August!

Silvia, 15, Sydney

I am Italian, but I moved to Sydney with my family when I was eight. Sydney has a population of nearly five million. It's enormous and it takes a long time to get from one side to the other! Its location means you can easily go to the beach. What about sharks? Well, luckily, it's very unusual to see one, but jellyfish sometimes sting people! If you don't like swimming (or jellyfish), you can just walk along the cliffs and enjoy the spectacular views.
